Veteran of CIA In Riots Probe

A former secret agent for the federal government has been hired as director of investigations for the commission appointed by President Johnson to investigate rioting in the nation's cities. He is Milan C. Miskovsky, who most recently has been an attorney for the Treasury Department in Washington.

Miskovsky, a native of Chicago, was at one time an officer in the Central Intelligence Agency and served as solicitor for the Federal Maritime Commission before going to the treasury.

Governor Otto Kerner, of Illinois, chairman of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, said that Miskovsky will supervise the inquiry into possible planning or conspiracy behind the riots and will coordinate the commission's work with other investigations made by various law enforcement agencies.
